Annie Claridge was counted in the census in 1851 in 36 New Road, Neithrop, Oxfordshire, England (Ann Claridge, aged 10, born at Bodicote. Orphan receiving parish relief.). She was counted in the census in 1871 in 85 Thistle Grove, Brompton, Chelsea, Middlesex, England (Fany Hart, 28, Furnishing Apt. bn. Oxfordshire). She was employed as a Fany Hart, Widow, Furniture Asst. The neighbours were called Erhart, the wife was from Banbury Oxon, perhaps this gave Annie Claridge the idea of calling herself Fany Hart in 1871 in 85 Thistle Grove, Kensington St Mary Abbott, London, England. She was counted in the census in 1881 in 85 Thistle Grove, Brompton, Chelsea, Middlesex, England (Surname Hart!). She was counted in the census in 1891 in Ennerdale Lodge, Ennerdale Road, Kew, Surrey, England (born at Bashbury Oxon). She was counted in the census in 1901 in 1 Ennerdale Road, Richmond, Surrey. She was buried on 28 Mar 1905 in Willesden Jewish Cemetery, London, England (Section B Row X2 Plot 16). She was also known as Fanny Hart.

Notes for Annie Claridge:

Birth Notes:

Annie's date of birth and parentage is unclear as she gave ages in 1871- 1911 which showed a variance of her birth year from 1842 to 1846. It seems likely that she was an orphan in 1851, age give as 10, living at a school near to where she was born at Bodicote (she did state Bodicote as her place of birth once, but nearby Banbury on other returns). The birth entries for Ann Claridge in 1843 and two in 1846 both have Elizabeth as a second name and those persons married and are accounted for. It was not unusual for a woman to give her age a few years younger than she was and in Annie's case as her husband was born in 1846 it seems plausible that she continually altered her birth year to hide that she was really born in July-Sept 1841. Annie gave a false name of Fany Hart in 1871 and 1881 stating she was a widow and although her children were recorded with the surname Claridge or Clarridge at birth, the last child Arthur was recorded as Arthur Hart. After Annie married the father of her children in 1882, they all assumed the surname Phillips. It was not possible to be married before 1882 as her husband's parents were against the marriage as she was not Jewish. However, they must eventually have agreed and approved on the basis that she converted which she must have done otherwise she would not have been buried in a Jewish cemetery.

Generation 1 (con't)

- vi. EDITH ELVINA (CLAY) CLARIDGE was born between Jul-Sep 1870 in Kensington, Middlesex, England. She died between Apr-Jun 1872 in Kensington, Middlesex, England.

Notes for Edith Elvina (Clay) Claridge:

Birth Notes:

Based on the mother's maiden name, Edith was probably a daughter of Annie Claridge and Joseph Phillips. As she does not appear on any census returns she must have died in 1872 although that entry records her second name as Clay.

Generation 2

2. JOSEPH HERBERT SPENCER CLARIDGE² PHILLIPS (Joseph¹) was born between Oct-Dec 1873 in Kensington, London, England (Oct-Dec 1873 Herbert Phillips no mother's maiden name). Notes for Arthur Claridge Phillips:

Occupation Notes:

Probate of his father's will.

A visitor, with Christie Laws, 24, drama actress from Weymouth, Lionel Briggs, 26, same, from Aspatria. Arthur Phillips who was their employer.

Around this time Arthur received a book, possibly from his father; James provided the following notes:

Generation 2 (con't)

'Wild Life in the Land of the Giants: A Tale of Two Brothers by Gordon Stables, published in 1888. The author dedicated it "to the Readers of the Boys Own Paper and its worthy editor". Stables clearly wrote articles and books for boys. There is a list of the books he wrote at the start and fuller details of them at the end. Interestingly this one has a Cornish scene early on and among the eight illustrations is one of two boys or young men fighting off with swords some natives, the caption "Back to Back, in good old Cornish fashion". Without reading the book, later scenes involve Patagonia and the Pampas in Argentina and ends with a happy climax. The book has one or two pencil marks in it, a couple of small red blotches early on. His signature is written big and boldly in pencil on the first inside page which is black and the next one. I would think he was aged 10 to 12 then, from the writing. No doubt Cornwall at the time had a romantic appeal and perhaps this was an influence in his later life.'

Arthur's father Joseph was away from home in 1891 and most likely was staying at The Knowe, Kilbarchan, Renfrewshire, Scotland:

Joseph Phillips Visitor Married Male 44 1847 Tobacco Manufr born England

He was staying with John Paterson Burns, a 42 year old tobacconist, and his family. The Burns family were all Scots and presumably Joseph Phillips was here on business.

The following sighting of Arthur reveals his occupation: under the heading 'Mr F.R. Benson's Shakespearean Company' the Gloucester Citizen reported on 10 September 1904 that Arthur played Biondello in The Taming of the Shrew: this was a minor part but he gave 'a pleasing and appropriate rendering'. Miss Christie Laws capably played 'the gentle Bianca' in the same production.

The photo shows Arthur in later life; Kent and Sussex Courier 4 February 1927, captioned "Mr Arthur Phillips who is to play 'Hamlet' with Sir Frank Benson as the Ghost".

A 1909 review of The Merchant of Venice in The Cornishman provides more information: the play was produced by 'Mr. Arthur Phillips' Company at St John's Hall Penzance', adding 'Mr Phillips is a well known in Penzance, having been the leading actor in Mr. F. R. Benson's Shakespearean Company, and Miss Christie Laws, too, has also been previously associated with this renowned company'. Here Arthur took the leading role, Shylock 'his long association with the impersonation of this character stood him in good stead'. Aged under 30 Arthur had been able to establish his own company of Shakespearean actors.

Some Notable Hamlets, by Clement Scott, 1900, inside front cover 'Arthur February 10th 1909'.

Arthur's role as producer evidently meant much travelling around the provinces: the 1911 census finds him at the Portland Hotel in Nottingham. This had a manageress, an assistant and 13 servants looking after just four boarders and six visitors - a good ratio for the guests! Of the six visitors four were 'Professional Actors/Actresses (Drama)', including Arthur, 30, who was an 'employer' and Kate Hutchinson, 30; Christie Laws, 24; and finally Lionel Briggs, 26, all 'workers'. Their birthplaces were Sunderland, Weymouth and Aspatria respectively: they were all working well away from their home areas. Another sighting of Arthur in April 1911: 'The popular young actor-manager, as Hilary Tolfrey Kite, the principal character in Tom Gallon's new play, "The Great Gay Road"... at Torquay'.

Arthur must have been a very eligible bachelor but appears to have concentrated on his career until his mid-30s. He married Isabella Christie Mingaye Briggs on 29th July 1915 at Richmond Register Office: he described himself as a bachelor, 34, actor of Ennerdale Lodge, Richmond, son of Joseph Phillips, Tobacco Manufacturer. Isabella was 29, a widow, of 10 Gloucester Road, Weymouth, daughter of John Laws, dentist. She signed the register 'Christie M. Briggs' and the marriage was witnessed by J.H.I. Phillips, J. Phillips and L. Phillips: Arthur's family attended so presumably approved of his marriage. (I think J.H.I. Phillips would be Joseph Herbert Spencer Phillips, elder brother to Arthur, the 'S' being mistaken for an 'I', J. Phillips may be his father Joseph and L. Phillips may be Arthur's sister Lilian').

Aberdeen Press and Journal 14 May 1919 includes an advertisement for a share issue in Godfrey Phillips Limited and lists its directors: Joseph Phillips (Chairman), Ennerdale Lodge, Kew; Philip Phillips, 47 Hanover Gate Mansions, Regent's Park, London; Moses David Phillips, 'Dover-court', Hollington Park, St Leonards, Sussex; Arthur Isaac Phillips,

Generation 2 (con't)

61 Eton Avenue, London; Joseph Herbert Spencer Phillips, Ennerdale Lodge, Kew. These were Arthur's father and uncles with one exception: his elder brother Joseph Herbert Spencer had become a director.

Isabella Christie M Laws was baptized on 27 Jun 1884 in Melcombe Regis St John, Dorset, England.

Arthur Claridge Phillips and Isabella Christie M Laws had the following children:

She died between Jul-Sep 1936 in Surrey North Eastern, Surrey, England. She married Abraham Joseph (Oppenheim) Phillips between Jan-Mar 1908 in St. Marylebone, Middlesex, England. He was born on 27 Sep 1880 in Kensington, Middlesex, England. He died on 15 Jan 1956 in 1522 Greenford Rd, Ealing, Middlesex, England.

May Claridge Phillips was counted in the census in 1871 in 85 Thistle Grove, Brompton, Chelsea, Middlesex, England (Mary Hart, dau, 2, born in London. The neighbours were called Erhart, the wife was from Banbury Oxon, perhaps this gave Annie Claridge the idea of calling herself Fany Hart). She was counted in the census in 1881 in 85 Thistle Grove, Brompton, Chelsea, Middlesex, England (Surname Hart!). She was counted in the census in 1891 in Ennerdale Lodge, Ennerdale Road, Kew, Surrey, England (aged 21). She was counted in the census in 1901 in 1 Ennerdale Road, Richmond, Surrey.
